New this year, NBMDA is partnering with the NPTA Alliance's Annual Management Conference. The NPTA Alliance is the leading association representing the $60+ billion paper, packaging, and supplies distribution industry. The NPTA Alliance and NBMDA share a common bond through the utilization of the distribution supply chain. By combining synergies in educational programming, networking and social activities, NBMDA is able to provide a more robust Executive Management Conference. While in Hot Springs you will have the unique opportunity to interact with NPTA Alliance attendees who share the same challenges and successes through the distribution channel – a great way to problem solve across industries and take real solutions back to the office for implementation.
